

Darling Bella Tunno Smock

by Amber Johnson on January 16, 2008

With winter upon us, I am in the throes of cabin fever. It does not help that my house is littered with toys and my children are covered head-to-toe in the disaster of the day.

Enter: Bella Tunno's play smocks, which are made for the little Picassos and Marthas of this world. Or aspiring train wrecks like my children.

Parents can choose to utilize the laminated, washable Smocks as a kitchen-helper apron or an artist smock. Bella Tunno encourages creativity and exploration for kids – but still a contained mess for mama. Their trend-setting products flaunt funky and fun baby basics – including bibs, burp cloths, diaper changing pads, binky holders and play smocks. Bella Tunno can be found in more than 1,200 upscale boutiques and department stores in North America and Japan.

The fashion-forward tot accessory line has been included in the 2007 Oscar Gift Baskets, 2006 Golden Globe Awards baby gift bags, 2006 MTV Style Lounge, Everyday with Rachael Ray, ABC, NBC, Fox, Parenting, Kids Today, Gifts and Decorative Accessories, Daily Candy, American Baby, babytalk, Pregnancy Magazine, and Earnshaw's. Just to name a few. :-)

So with Bella Tunno's smocks, your children's mess is finally contained. Now, if you could just cleanup the rest of the house as easily....

We are pleased to offer one lucky winner the smock of your choice. Please email us at giveaways@milehighmamas.com (email hidden; JavaScript is required) and include your mailing address along with the design of your favorite smock by Saturday, January 19th at 9 a.m. Also, Bella Tunno is pleased to offer a 20% discount for Mile High Mamas readers until February 28, 2008. Simply use MILE20 as the code when you place your order on their website.